

Established over 30 years ago The Mann McGowan Group has added a new family of multi purpose seals to its comprehensive range.

The Enviroseal® DD1 "sweep" threshold seal has a unique action which ensures the seal makes contact with the floor when the door returns to the closed position. It has been tested for acoustic and cold smoke protection and can be used on fire resisting doors

The Enviroseal® ACS1 stop mounted acoustic and cold smoke seal is fitted very easily and has distinct advantages over other stop mounted products currently in the market place. In addition, the company can manufacture both a flexible and semi rigid type depending upon the client's preference.

DID YOU KNOW?

Mann McGowan was the first company in the world to;

1. Encapsulate intumescent door edge seals in pvc
2. Encapsulate Palusol fire board in pvc

In 2005 Lindsey joined Mann McGowan as our Sales and Marketing Manger. She has a number of years experience in both disciplines, selling through distribution channels and to end users. As if she was not busy enough, she also sits on the Commercial Committee of the Fire Resistant Glazing Group of the Glass and Glazing Federation and represents the company at BWF Certifire meetings. This is besides her multitude of outside interests. Phew how does she do it?

MANN MCGOWAN INSTALLATIONS

Formed in June 2000, this company undertakes a variety of specialist functions including the installation of Fire resisting and acoustic doors (sometimes on behalf of our doorset manufacturing clients), fire stopping as well as installing Pyrovista® and Firestile® fully glazed screens and doors.

Firestile® doors installed at the Mirage Development Sandbanks in Poole on Behalf of Gleeson Homes

Many people assume that the CPD presentations are only relevant to architects, building control and other specifying authorities. However at Mann McGowan we believe that anybody involved in the supply chain can benefit from extra knowledge.

If you would like us to visit your premises and present our 40 minute CPD rated presentations on Up-Grading of Fire Resisting Doors or Fire Resisting Glazing, please contact our CPD Coordinator Debbie Knight on 01252 333601 or Debbie@mannmcgowan.co.uk
